

Oilfield Manpower

- Uzma is one of the largest suppliers of professional manpower to the oil and gas industry both upstream and downstream
- Our Discipline Experts help clients develop job descriptions and expertly match candidates with requirements. They provide quality shortlists - not boxfuls of CVs for you to screen.
- Our Account Managers provide a level of professionalism seldom found in the manpower sector. They confidently discuss requirements with candidates and clients.
- We can provide a quality shortlist of professionals, in any discipline within a challenging timeframe.
- Uzma has earned the respect of operators and candidates by delivering on our promises. We never put forward a candidate who has not confirmed their availability.
- We only supply personnel to clients who can provide the safe and stimulating environment expected by Uzma and our high caliber personnel.

Our Services

Recruitments

Our recruitment specialists expertly fill technical vacancies in all disciplines at all levels. In addition to database searches we use personal contacts, headhunting and targeted advertising. In addition to screening candidates against job descriptions Uzma can provide value added services; conducting screening interviews, preparing competency requirements, provide in-depth insight into specific job markets, and advising on remuneration packages.

Consultancy Placement

Consultancy enables our clients to temporarily expand their organisation when special skills are required or when technical teams are temporarily overstretched. Our Account Managers and Discipline Experts regularly meet consultants and their line supervisors to ensure expectations are being met. Uzma manages mobilization, insurance, accommodation and taxes.

Resources Solutions

Resource Solutions allows clients to contract-out the human resources management of groups of technical personnel to be utilized in a project, but not required in the long term. This avoids our clients having to put an infrastructure in place to manage the payroll and the numerous benefits to local and expatriate personnel.

Project Hosting

Project Hosting is a unique, flexible solution for E&P companies who have reservations about contracting out exploration and development studies and field development planning in their entirety, but who lack all the personnel and software resources required to carry out all the work in-house. Uzma and our client jointly develop the work scope, time lines and resources required. This is much more efficient for our client than trying to pull together an integrated team from various sources.
